QUESTIONS PRESENTED FOR REVIEW

I. THE APPELLATE COURT HAS MIS-QUOTED WOOD V. STRICKLAND, THEREBY CHANGING WELL ESTABLISHED FUNDAMENTAL CONSTITUTIONAL LAW.

II. BOTH THE DISTRICT COURT AND THE COURT OF APPEALS, ON APPEAL FROM THE SUMMARY JUDGMENT ". .REFUSED TO VIEW THE CASE FROM A STANDPOINT MOST FAVORABLE TO THE APPELLANT(S) AND ACCEPT. .(THEIR).. ALLEGATIONS OF FACT AS TRUE AND ASSUME A STATE OF FACTS MOST FAVORABLE TO THEM. ."

III. A GOVERNMENTAL AGENCY CANNOT LEGITIMIZE THAT WHICH IS AN ILLIGITIMATE CONSTITUTIONAL DEPRIVATION BY GIVING NOTICE THAT IT INTENDS TO ACT UNLAWFULLY.

IV. THE APPELLATE COURT'S ARGUMENT THAT PROCEDURAL DUE PROCESS WAS GIVEN IS IRRELEVANT WITH RESPECT TO THE "INVASION OF PRIVACY" ISSUE IN THIS CASE.

V. CAN THE DISTRICT AND APPELATE JUDGES REFUSE TO ENFORCE 42 U.S.C 1983 WHERE THEY ADMIT TO VIOLATIONS OF STATE LAWAND THEIR OWN RULES AND REGULATIONS BY REFUSING TO ALLOW STUDENTS AND THEIR PARENTS TO PETITION THE BOARD FOR REDRESS OF GRIEVANCES, WHICH REFUSAL HAS PERSISTED FOR "A NUMBER OF YEARS".

VI. MINOR AMERICAN STUDENTS ARE A PROTECTED CLASS UNDER 42 U.S.C 1985 (2)(3).

VII. HIST ACTED ARBITRARILY WHERE THEY NEITHER ALLEGED NOR FOUND THAT AMY McCAIN VIOLATED THE MANDATORY STANDARDS SET BY THE HISD BOARD AS EXCLUSIVE GROUNDS FOR SUSPENSIONS OR EXPULSIONS.

HOUSTON INDEPENDENT SCHOOL BOARD POLICIES AND PROCEDURES ARE LISTED IN THE APPENDIX INDEX

THE FOURTEENTH AMENDMENT IS QUOTED IN THE CONCLUSION PAGE 37 ET. SEQ.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Plaintiffs brought this action against the Houston Independant School District, their agents, employees, designees, officers, School Board members, and representatives of said parties, invoking jurisdiction under ss. 28 USC 1343, 42 USC 1983, 1985 (2) (3), 1988, alleging violations of the above federal statutes, as well as violation of the First, Fourth, Fifth, Fourteenth Amendments to the Constitution of The United States, and their Texas equivalents, as well as the violation of Plaintiff's constitutional Right To Privacy. (R143-158) On June 9, 1988 the Defendants filed their Motion To Dismiss along with their memorandum claiming that the Plaintiff's failed to state a cause of action or to perfect service on Defendants. (R 124 et seq.) Return of Summons was filed on June 28, 1988 by the Court. (R 141) Plaintiffs' Memorandum

In Opposition To Motion To Dismiss was filed on June 28, 1988 and Defendants filed a Supplement to their motion of July 1, 1988 along with an affidavit of Principal Ray Reiner. (R 100,92 respectively) Defendants' Response to Plaintiffs' Opposition Memorandum was filed by the Defendants on July 5, 1988. (R85) Amy McCain's Affidavit along with 55 pages, representing the record made in the proceedings before the school district, were filed on July 8, 1988. (R 14-79) The Defendants filed their final memorandum on August 8, 1988. (R 8) On August 31, 1988 the District Court converted the Defendants Motion to Dismiss to the parties and without setting a submission date. (R 4) The Court dismissed the Plaintiffs' complaint on August 31, 1988 and said order was docketed on September 6, 1988. Notice of Appeal was timely filed on September 30, 1988 and docketed with the Appellate Court on October 10, 1988.

Docketed with the Appelate Court on October 10, 1988.

A copy of the District Court's findings and judgment is in the Appendix p.A15.

The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals rendered judgment denying Amy and William R. McCain's appeal on October 18, 1989. The Appellate Court refused to publish their opinion in violation of local Appellate Rule 47.5.1, the Court having made radical and ultra vires changes in fundamental Constitutional rights of students by misquoting Wood v. Strickland (supra). A copy of the Appellate Court's decision and denial of the Petition for Rehearing is located at p.A1 of the Appendix. The Appellate Court refused to file the Suggestion For For Rehearing In Bank and Motion For Leave To Extend The Length Of Brief by five (5) pages. The Court further refused Petitioner Amy McCain access of the Federal Judicial system by refusing to act on or to even showed filed, Amy McCain's Petition To Substitute Parties, and their refusal to substit- her as a party on reaching the age of majority.

STATEMENT OF THE FACTS *

On May 26, 1987 a Lamar High School student, at the request of a teacher, brought a keg of beer to school in order to demonstrate a beer tapper which he had been asked to design as part of a class project. As a result an empty cup, with the smell of beer, was left in the area where Amy McCain and another girl were waiting for their ride home. A Lamar High School coach ordered Amy to pick-up the cup and bring it to him.

Amy and other students were sent to the vice-principal's office where, with the door wide open, and in the presence of uninvolved students and other people, they were publicly ridiculed and accused of possession and consumption of beer by vice-principals Busker and Brew.

*We have listed a more comprehensive statement of the facts in the Appendix, p.A20 which is the precise language which Petitioners used in the Fact portion of their appeal before the Appellate Court.

Amy told them that she did not have possession of the cup and only picked it up at the direction of the coach, and, that the cup was empty except for the smell of beer. The vice-principals kept changing the allegations and would not, otherwise let Amy or the other students tell their side of the story. Amy was publicly threatened with arrest, suspension and expulsion, and with denial of her right to make-up final exams which were to begin the next day, a violation of The Texas Education Code (TEC Sec 21:301(h)

The next morning Amy's adult sister went with her to Mr. Busker's office, expecting to hear an explanation of why the school was directly responsible for a student bringing a keg of beer to school for a class demonstration to start with. (an act in violation of Texas Criminal Law, Texas Education Code Sec. 4:22) Instead, without notice of hearing, Amy was suspended for two days but denied the right to return to school until a hearing, to be held before vice-principal Busker, on a date to be set later at his discretion and at which he retained the right to add further punishments.

Later that same morning, on learning of the suspension, Amy's father, William R. McCain went to Mr. Busker's office. Although vice-principal Busker had already talked to coach Muskett and security guard Land, Mr. Busker admitted that he knew that the cup was only picked up at the direction of the coach and that the cup was empty except for the smell of beer. He said he suspended Amy, not because of misconduct, but because he needed more information. In short--the suspension was a tool of extortion in order to elicit confessions and favorable testimony in order to cover up Lamar High School's involvment in the beer party. Mr. Busker threatened to retaliate against Amy if she and her father continued to complain about the suspension. No evidence was ever submitted that Amy was a member of the class where the keg of beer was taken or that she even knew the student involved, nor could there have been. The burden of proof was shifted to Amy to prove her innocence in order to re-enter school and avoid expulsion, additionable suspension and further sanctions. Furthermore HISD Board Policies and Procedures violated Due Process by require her to present evidence ". . .upon which the hearing officer can establish that the student did not do the alleged act" (Sec. 756.000, our emphasis)

Mr. McCain was not served with written notice of the charges at the meeting of May 27, as was found by the Appelate Court. He was served with written notice in the evening which cited Board Policy as:

"Suspension/Expulsion. Decisions to suspend or expel a student shall not be made until":

A. "There has been a hearing as provided by Section 751.200, Board Policies, involving the principal, the teacher, the student and his or her parent, guardian or representative.";

B. "At the hearing, the principal must find that the student";

1. "has assaulted a teacher or other persons on school property; or";

2. "has been previously declared incorrigible and has continued to be guilty of incorri(g)ible conduct during or after disciplinary reassignment (long term) to the extent that keeping the student in the program would serisouly impair the ability to the school to educate other children and";

3. "that no further reasonable efforts to educate the child can be made. . ."

C. "A copy of the written order suspending or expelling a student must be sent to the Chief Juvenile Probation Officer of Harris County." (our emphasis) (R 150, Par. 22)

School Board Policies provided:

"The Board or its designate may not suspend or expel a student except as provided in Policy Section...756.000" Art. 4, HISD Board Policy Sec. 752)

Section 756.000(b) provided:

> "The student is entitled to an impartial hearer of the facts. .If in doubt about whether the administrations acts, judgments or decisions are at issue or if the administration cannot conduct a fair and impartial hearing, the administrator should not conduct the hearing. The entire thrust of having a hearing is to have someone conduct it who is impartial and can render a fair decision."

Amy's father filed a sworn Motion For Recusement, a recorded hearing, sworn testimony, immediate reinstatement and expungment of the record. Mr. Busker ignored the Petition, waived two pieces of paper in the air, did not allow Petitioners to examine them, stated that they were the school's case, refused to allow Petitioners to submit evidence or make argument, and affirmed the two day suspension, which by then had consumed three days, during test week, placed her on indefinite probation, but did not notify her of that fact.

Petitioners appealed Mr. Busker's de-decision to Principal Reiner who on June 4 affirmed the suspension, and refused to expunge the record, after conducting an:

". .inquisition type, exparte hearing:

(a) Evidence was accumulated and deliberations made in secret:

(b) Identities of witnesses were sesecret;

(c) Their testimony was kept secret;

(d) Accusations, arguments and decisions were made in secret by a tribunal that was partially identified and partially unidentified; and, under an evidentiary test based on the "feelings" of said tribunal, Amy McCain was told on June 4, 1987 that she had been ". .involvedl land. .to what degree. .is totally inconsequential.

(See Complaint par. 21 and 26, Apx. p.A5 and Appellate Court's finding Plaintiffs' complaint was limited to ". .closed-sessions of the administrative proceedings, page 6 of the Opinion, Apx. p. 29)

On failure of Principal Reiner to expunge the record and reverse the suspension, Petitioners , on June 10 1987, filed a Petition For Grievance under HISD Pol. and Proc. Sec. 740.000 for the equitable relief of expungment and investigation of authorities responsible for bringing the beer onto the campus. This is a totally separate proceeding from the Disciplinary Appeal. This Section provides for a resolution of the Grievance Petition within 10 days, with automatic appeal to the next higher administrator, and ultimate resolution within 30 days. This Petition For Grievance, which eventially reached the School Board has never been addressed or acknowledged by anyone in the entire Houston Independent School District. In fact no one, including the Federal Judiciary has ever addressed or ruled on our prayer for the equitable relief of Expungment which was part of our complaint below.

On June 24, 1987 appeal was made to the School Board along with a contemporaneous and identical appeal to the District Superintendent Stripling. Though not authorized under Board Policy it was made at the insistance of school officials and in order to avoid improper election of administrative remedies. Although Board Policies provided that Appeals at this level would be made on the record as established below,a false record was substituted in this hearing for the actual record made below and was ultimately substituted as the actual record, before the Board.

In the proceeding before the Board they refused to take judicial notice of the Appeal filed before it, of affidavits and other documents and the legal memoranda supporting Amy McCain's case. They falsly claimed that no recording was made of the hearing before principal Reiner. The Board further refused to even mark as evidence the 54 page certified record. The Houston Independent School District has for a number of years engaged in conspirital acts which has resulted in a total and complete denial of the student and parent's Right To Petition the Board which is guaranteed under the Texas Education Code, Sec. 21.3011(f). The factual details are described in the Petioners' Complaint.

NOTICE TO THE COURT

We fully understand the problems which the Court may have on granting Certiorari in a Pro Se application in this case which involves both serious legal issues and potentially broad applications. The Court is therefor being apprised of the de facto qualifications of one of the Petitioners to properly address the issues presented in this case.

Although Mr. McCain is not now licensed in any state he is a graduate of the Indiana University School of Law, and was a trial and appelate lawyer for fifteen years handling both state and federas lawsuits. He has had successful appeals reported in both Recent Federal Cases and Judicial Highlights in West's Advance sheets. He is a former member of the American Trial Lawyers Association, and the American and Indiana Bar Associations.

REASONS FOR GRANTING THE PETITION

(a) The Fifth Circuit Court has so far departed from the accepted and usual course of judicial proceedings and sanctioned such departure by the District Court so as to call for an exercise of the Supreme Court's power of supervision in that the Appellate Court misquoted and mis-stated the facts in this case, mis-stated the positions of the Petitioners, and it has attempted to drive Petitioners from the well of the Court by denying Amy McCain access to the Federal Judicial system by refusing her Petition To Substitute Parties on attaining the age of majority, by unwarranted threats of fines and imprisonment of Mr. McCain, and by sanctioning and itself engaging in misprisons which the 42nd Congress enjoined the Federal Courts to prevent in 42 U.S.C 1983, 1985(2)(3) and 1986.

(b) The Appellate Court mis-cited

Williams v. Boorstin as Binkman v. Johnson

(see p. 5 of its opinion) citing pages 112-113 of 663 F. 2d (1980) and it states:

> "Williams is part of that too broad fellowship of educated men and women everywhere who 'pad' their resumes, inflating their apparent strength. Unfortunately, Williams went beyond simple puffery and actually lied about his educational accomplishments. These statements were criminal." (note 7)

Note 7 says:

> "18 U.S.C Sec. 1001 (1975) The Penalty for 'false, ficticious or fraudulent' misrepresentations to an agency of the United States is a fine of up to $10, 000, or imprisonment for not more than five years, or both."

The Appellage Court has mis-quoted Wood v. Strickland (1975) 420 U.S. 308, 326: 43 L. Ed. 2d 214 on page 7 of its opinion, stating:

> "Public high school students do not have substantive and procedural rights while at school."

The Supreme Court actually said:

> "Public high school students do have substantive and procedural rights while at school."

The Court then banished its opinion to dung heap of unreported cases, in violation of its own local rule 47.5.1, and beyond the critical gaze of the American bar and bench. The Fifth Circuit refused to change their opinion even after this misquote of the law was pointed out to them in Petitioners" Motion For Rehearing and Suggestion For Hearing In Banc.

(c) The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals has further ruled on an important question of federal law which has not been, but should be settled by this Court and further its ruling regarding substantive and procedural due process rights is in conflict with a long line of Federal cases at all levels. The status of minor students as a protected class has been recognized in the concurring opinion of Mr. Justice Black in In Re Gault, 387 U.S. 1; 18 L.Ed. 2d; 87 S.Ct. 428,

I. THE APPELLATE COURT HAS MIS-QUOTED WOOD V. STRICKLAND, 420 U.S. 308, 326; 43 L. Ed. 2d 214, THEREBY CHANGING WELL-ESTABLISHED, CONSTITUTIONAL LAW.

The Court on page 7 of its opinion asserts;

> "Public high school students do not have substantive and procedural rights while at school."

The Supreme Court actually said:

> "Public high school students do have substantive and procedural rights while at school." (our emphasis)

The Appellate Court has, by its mis-quote and its clear refusal to act as a court, denied the Petitioners' Right To Petition for Redress, and by fiat declared the Bill Of Rights and the Fourteenth and Fifth Amendments to the Constitution of the United States a nullity.

A. Under our adversarial system of justice the litigants have the right to define the issues in their case. These Pro Se litigants did just that:

> ". .the defendants. .deprive(d)students and parents of their Constitutional protections, including:

(a) Right to petition, 1st Amendment,

(b) Right to Privacy,

(c) Right to be secure from illegal searches and siezures, 4th Amendment,

(d) Right to due process, 5th and 14th Amendments,

(e) Right to Equal protection, 14th Amendment."

Neither the District nor the Court of Appeals lists Due Process as an issue in in this case. (see App. pp A1,15

On the Respondent's, and the Federal Judiciary's inability or unwillingness to counter the arguments of the Petitioners, the Appellate Court summarily stripped Amy McCain and William R. McCain of their citizenship.

This case, in fact, documents a total stripping of the Constitutional protections of an entire class of American Citizens, comprised of 40 Million students and and their 80 Million parents.

B. The Appellate Court has endorsed a system of Pains and Penalties engaged in by the Houston Independent School District, wherein students are, by fiat, inflicted with ongoing punishments until such time as they confess to whatever naked charges school administrators choose to make. (See Article I, Sec. 9(3) prohibition of Bills of Attainer and ex post facto laws, Constitution of the United States) The Court has endorsed a system of justice that by misprison consistantly reversed the respective burdens of proof at both the federal and local school levels.

C. The combined federal and state authorities have denied Mr. McCain of his "..liberty under the Fifth or Fourteenth Amendments. .to. .establish a home and bring up children. .and generally to enjoy those privileges long recognized at common law as essential to the orderly pursuit of happiness by free men." Old Dominion Dairy v. Secretary of Defense, 631 F2d 953,962 (1980)

We have alleged and can prove that The Houston Independent School District has:

> ". .isolat(ed) students in the school environment from the protection provided by the laws of the State of Texas and from the state and United States Constitutions." (Cpt. par. 12, App.A41)

The right of a parent to protect his children is an ancient right dating to the time of King Solomon. In the Two Prostitutes Case the the king, the highest judicial authority of the land, entertained the Pro Se petition of the parent to proceed before him de novo in his capacity of parens patriæ. 1 Kings 3:16

The Code of Justinian provided:

> "..a father is considered to sustain damage when the character of his daughter is assailed." The Emperor to Clavis, Published on the day before the Ides of May, during the Consulate of Agricola and Clement 231, The Civil Law, Vol. 15-17, Enactments by Justinian.

D. Both local school authorities and the Federal Judiciary have denied Petitioners their fundamental right to Petition for Redress.

The right to Petition is the most fundamental of human rights by which people seek protection and access to their God and their government. With the first gasp of breath the cry of the infant seeks nourishment, nurturing, comfort and protection from its parent.

". . . the right to petition for redress of grievances is 'among the most precious of the liberties safeguarded by the Bill of Rights.' United Mine Workers of America, District 12 v. Illinois State Bar Association, 389 U.S. 217, 222, 88 S. Ct. 353,356, 19 L. Ed. 2d 426 (1967) It shares the 'preferred place' accorded in our system of government to the First Amendment Freedoms, and has a 'sanctity and a sanction not permitting dubious intrusions'. . .Indeed as the Supreme Court recognized in United States v. Cruikshank, 92 U.S. 542, 552, 23 L. Ed. 588 (1875), the right to petition is logically implicit in and fundamental to the very idea of a republican form of government. Stern v. United States Gypsum, Inc. 547 F. 2d 1329, 1342(1977)

HISD admits that they have not allowed students and parents the right to petition the Board for a number of years.

On the denial of Petition our founding fathers said:

> "In every stage of these Oppressions we have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble terms. Our repeated Petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A Prince , whose Character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the Ruler of a free People." Declaration of Independence (1776)

II. BOTH THE DISTRICT COURT AND THE COURT OF APPEALS, ON APPEAL FROM THE SUMMARY JUDGMENT ". .REFUSED TO VIEW THE CASE FROM A STANDPOINT MOST FAVORABLE TO THE APPELLANT(S) AND ACCEPT. .(THEIR). . ALLEGATIONS OF FACT AS TRUE AND ASSUME A STATE OF FACTS MOST FAVORABLE TO THEM." Barron and Holzoff, Summary Judgment Sec. 1242

Both Courts have invaded the province of the jury by weighing the evidence alleged in Petitioner's Complaint by arbitrarily deciding what part of the Petitioners' Complaint and supporting evidence they would choose to believe, even though Respondent, HISD, failed to file an answer in denial in this case, nor did they file affidavits or other evidence to refute Petitioners' evidence.

III. A GOVERNMENTAL AGENCY CANNOT LEGITIMIZE THAT WHICH IS AN ILLEGITIMATE CONSTITUTIONAL DEPRIVATION BY GIVING NOTICE THAT IT INTENDS TO ACT UNLAWFULLY.

The facts are clear in this case. Although the vice-principal initially accused Amy McCain of possession and consumption of beer he said that the reason he suspended her was that "that he needed more information." The public humiliation of Amy McCain, the assault on Mr. McCain, the threats of arrest and the notice that the school may not allow make up of Amy's final examinations were extortion, purely and simply. They were efforts to coverup the fact that school authorities had contributed to the deliquency of minors. Their arbitrary actions were taken with the comforting knowledge that Petitions to the School Board had not been allowed for many years.

IV. THE APPELLATE COURT'S ARGUMENT THAT PROCEDURAL DUE PROCESS WAS GIVEN IS IRRELEVANT WITH RESPECT TO THE "INVASION OF PRIVACY" ISSUE IN THIS CASE.

The Appellate panel failed to address Petitioners' argument that the defamation associated with Invasion Of Privacy and the irreparable damage associated with that Constitutional invasion cannot be corrected by holding a trial or hearing after the fact, even if it did provide Procedural Due Process. The invasion was completed at the time it was committed. The denial of Substantive Due Process, once committed is irretrievable and cannot be corrected by a trial held later. This is so because reputation, like a rose, once crushed can never be restored to its original beauty. Pavesich v. New England Life Insurance Co. 50 S. 68 (1905), Screws v. United States 325 U.S. 115 et seq 18 L. Ed. 1510 (1944)

In fact it makes no difference whether Amy was guilty or not of the charges al-legal. She was entitled to a private hearing in any event.

V. CAN THE DISTRICT AND APPELLATE COURTS REFUSE TO ENFORCE 42 U.S.C. 1983WHERE HISD ADMITS TO VIOLATIONS OF STATE LAW AND THEIR OWN RULES AND REGULATIONS BY REFUSING TO ALLOW STUDENTS AND THEIR PARENTS TO PETITION THE SCHOOL BOARD FOR REDRESS OF THEIR GRIEVANCES, WHICH HAS PERSISTED ". .FOR A NUMBER OF YEARS?

Respondents admit Par. 33(d) of Petitioners' complaint that they have denied students and parents, as a class, their right to Petition ". .for a number of years". The Texas Education Code provides:

> "A student's parent or guardian is entitled to notice as soon as possible of a suspension. . and an opportunity to participate in a proceding before the board under this section."

Invidious discrimination is a sanitized description of the brutalization of children which has existed since the early dawn of history. Children have been sacrificed, fondled, raped, killed, burned and enslaved. Examples are not hard to find and indeed, are chronicled in the Bible. Children have been indentured servants in our own country and subjected to sweat shops. They have been considered by HISD, the United States District Court, and the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals as "Guilty until proved innocent", since each has reversed the respective burdens of the parties in this case. The Court in In Re Gault, 387 U.S. 1; 18 L. Ed. 2d; 87 S. Ct. 428 at U.S. page 16 said:

> "Juvenile Court history has again demonstrated that unbridled discretion, however benevolently motivated is frequently a poor substitute for principle and procedure. In 1937 Dean Pound wrote:
> 'The powers of the Star Chamber were a trifle in comparison with those of our juvenile courts. .'
> The Chairman of the Pennsylvania Council of Juvenile Court judges has recently observed;
> 'Unfortunately, loose procedures, high-handed methods and crowded court calenders, whether singly or in combination, all to often, have resulted in depriving some juveniles of fundamental rights that have resulted in a denial of due process.'"

On the same page, Note 7. Dr. Bovet, the Swiss psychiatrist in his monograph for the World Health Organization said:

"'One of the most definite conclusions of this investigation is that few fields exist in which more serious coersive measures are applied, on such flimsy objective evidence, than in that of juvenile delinquency.'"

Mr. Justice Black on page 61 in his concurring opinion went even further:

". .it would be a plain denial of equal protection of the laws- - -an invidious discrimination to hold that others subject to heavier punishments, because they are children, be denied these same constitutional safeguards"

VII. HISD ACTED ARBITRARILY WHERE THEY NEITHER ALLEGED NOR FOUND THAT AMY McCAIN VIOLATED THE MANDATORY STANDARDS SET BY THE HISD BOARD, IN THEIR QUASI-LEGISLATIVE CAPACITY, AS EXCLUSIVE GROUNDS FOR SUSPENSIONS OR EXPULSIONS.

The following is the exclusive ground for suspension or expulsion and was cited to the Appellate Court:

"Suspension/Expulsion. Decisions to suspend or expel a student shall not be made until"

B. "At the hearing the principal must find that the student":

1. "Has assaulted a teacher or other persons on school property, or";

2. "has been previously declared incorrigible and has continued to be guilty of incorrigible conduct during or after disciplinary reassignment (long term) to the extent that keeping the student in the program would seriously impair the ability of the school to educate other children and";

3. "that no further reasonable efforts to educate the child can be made. . ." (our emphasis) Code Of Student Conduct
(R. 150, Par. 22, Com'p't)

CONCLUSION

Every successful civilization has had a system of laws, essestially democratic in nature, allowing its citizens direct access to and participation in the decision making process. Examples are the Code of Hammurabi, the Justinian Code, the Judaic Code, the English Common Law and the American Constitution. The most significant contribution of the United States to western civilization is the breadth of the endowment of fundamental human rights. It is the freedom testimentally bestowed upon all men.

> "We hold these Truths to be self-evident, that all Men are created equal, that they are endowded by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness." Declaration of Independence, (1776)

> "We, the people of the United States, in order to . .secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America. Preamble to the Constitution of the United States

The breadth of the dream was achieved by a bloody civil war.

> "Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal." Lincoln's Address at Gettysburg, 1963

The Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States says:

> "1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life liberty, or property without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

42 U.S.C 1983 was passed in the throes of the Civil War. The title to 42 U.S.C. 1985 was "A law to enforce the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution." The Fourteenth Amendment itself defines the breadth of that great class it was intended to protect as "all...citizens of the United States." In a time when the chains of slavery are being thrown off all around the world, the question is whether the Court in this case is willing to disinherit the remaining generations of Americans.

The Appellate Court in addition to stripping Petitioners of all of their Constitutional rights held that punishments may arbitrarily be meted out, regardless of guilt or innocence so long as procedural niceties are followed. This Court held in Gault at page 28, U.S.:

> "The condition of being a boy does not justify a kangaroo court."

The truth is that the federal judiciary below did not know the difference between substance or, they simply did not to choose to address the substantive due process issues raised by the petitioners.

Substance is not the handmaiden of Procedure. The precise purpose of procedure is to determine the truth. (See Goss v. Lopez, supra,) When the respondents deprived Amy McCain of a protected interest in liberty or property for an act which they knew she did not commit, they acted arbitrarily and in violation of Amy McCain's substantive due process--an issue the Courts did not address.

The gravamen in this case is the direct invasion of privacy of Amy McCain and the defamation associated with it. It was the public accusation of a crime and the threat of arrest and the failure of the school to allow her to show up at school to take her final examinations for three days that lead students to believe that she was arrested and jailed and spawned the rumor that Amy was arrested for possession of dope. The net result is that an honors student with an inpeccable disciplinary record is now a high school dropout and was in fact deprived of her scholarships to college after taking her GED to graduate. We request that the Court read the detailed fact sheet in the Appendix page A20 which is a shocking expose as to how some big city schools are treating American Citizens.

Tinker v. Des Moines Community School

Dist., held at page 512:

> "The vigilant protection of constitutional freedoms is nowhere more vital than in the community of American schools." 393 U.S. 503, 21 L. Ed.2d 731, 741, 89 S. Ct. 733.

This case documents the total failure of the schools and the Federal judiciary to bridge from one generation to another fundamental democratic principles. They have further isolated them in reformatory like institutions which they call schools, from the protection of their parents and from the protections afforded all American Citizens.

Amy McCain worked hard for 16 years to establish a record of accademic and moral excellence. School authorities have here sacrificed the very life of a bright and vibrant young lady in order to save their own reputations from scandal. Mr. Busker and others had a direct interest in the outcome of Amy's hearing and denied her the means of vindication.

Petitioners pray that a Writ of Certiorari issue in this case.

HOUSTON INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT, et al.,

Defendants-Appellees.

Appeal from the United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas
(CA-H-88-1796)
(October 18, 1989)

Before HIGGINBOTHAM, DAVIS, and SMITH, Circuit Judges.

JERRY E. SMITH, Circuit Judge:[1]

The plaintiffs brought this action pursuant to 42 U.S.C. Sec. 1983, 1985 (2), (3), 1986, and 1988 for asserted violations of the rights to petition, to be free from unlawful search and seizure, of equal protection, and of privacy. The district court granted summary judgment in favor of the defendants, and we affirm.

I.

The plaintiffs allege that on May 26, 1987, plaintiff Amy McCain, a Texas high school student, was accused of possession of alcohol on the campus of Lamar High School of the Houston Independent School District (HISD). Amy McCain denied the allegation of Vice Principal Ernest Brew and Vice Principal Bart Busker in Busker's office. Busker talked to the confronting witnesses, Coach Joe Muskett and Ernest Lang over a walkie-

[1] Local Rule 47.5.1 provides: "The publication of opinion that have no precendential value and merely decide particular cases on the basis of well-settled principals of law imposes needless expense on the public and burdens on the legal profession." Pursuant to that rule, the court has determinied that this opinion should not be published.

talkie. Amy McCain then presented her version, stating that "the cup was empty except for the smell of beer" and that "she was not holding the cup." Amy McCain was suspended by Busker.

A meeting was held later that morning which Amy McCain's father, William R. McCain, was given written notice by Busker of Amy McCain's two-day suspension for possession of a cup of beer and lying to an administrator. An administrative hearing was later conducted in which Busker affirmed the suspension. This decision was appealed to Principal Ray Reiner, and a further administrative hearing was conducted, whereupon the suspension again was upheld.

The mcCains appealed this decision, and another administrative hearing was conducted by District Superintendent Kay Stripling, whereupon the suspension was upheld. This decision was appealed to the HISD Board of Trustees for further administrative review, whereupon the suspension was once again upheld. (Amy McCain does not contest that she was allowed to make up any examinations that she missed during the suspension.)

After receiving affidavits of the parties and other submissions, including part of the administrative record submitted by the plaintiffs, the district court construed the defendants' motions to dismiss as motions for summary judgment and granted the same. The court concluded that Amy McCain had been given the opportunity to be heard and to present her side of the beer controversy and that her due process rights had been protected by the various hearing levels. Therefore, the court concluded that for this short-term suspension she "was given more than the minimum due process guaranteed by the Constitution for a suspension of less than ten days" (citing Goss v. Lopez, 419 U.S. 565 (1975)). The court found no arguable basis for the other purported claims.

II.

In Goss the Supreme Court specifically addressed the requirements of due process before the imposition of a short-term suspension. The Court determined that a ten-day suspension was a "serious event" and that, at the very minimum, students "must be given some kind of notice and afforded some kind of hearing." 419 U.S. 576-79 (emphases in original). The timing and content of the notice and the nature of the hearing may vary in each situation. However, the Court held that minimal due process required that > the student be given oral or written notice of the charges against him and, if he denies > them, an explanation of the evidence the authorities have and an opportunity to present his side of the story... There need be no delay between the time 'notice' is given and the time of the hearing. In the great majority of the cases the disciplinarian may informally discuss the alleged misconduct with the student minutes after it has occurred. We hold only that, in being given an opportunity to explain his version of the facts at this discussion, the student first be told what he is accused of doing and what the basis of the accusation is.

Id. at 581-82. The minimum requirement of "an informal give-and-take between student and disciplinarian" is for the purpose of at least giving the student "the opportunity to characterize this conduct and put it in what he deems the proper context." Id. at 584.

The district court was correct that Amy McCain was afforded her due process rights in being able to explain and characterize her conduct after being initially confronted with the allegations of misconduct. The court further properly concluded that her constitutional rights wer properly concluded that her constitutional rights were protected by the initial, informal hearing that occurred immediately after the offense and by the various hearings that followed. See Goss, id. at 581-82; Keough v. Tate County Bd. of Educ., 748 F.2d 1077, 1080 (5th Cir. 1984). Based upon the facts as alleged by plaintiffs and the affidavits and other exhibits, the court did not err in granting summary judgment on this claim.

The McCains also alleged violations of sections 1985(2), (3) and 1986, which involved a conspiracy designed to interfere with equal protection of the laws. The district court correctly dismissed these claims under Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) for failure to state a claim upon which relief could be granted, as claims brought pursuant to section 1985(2) and

(3) require as an element of the cause of action a racial or otherwisw class-based, invidiously discriminatory animus. See Bradt v. Smith, 634 F.2d 796, 800-02 (5th Cir. Unit A Jan. 1981), cert. denied, 545 U.S. 830 (1981). In the instant case the McCains have not pleaded facts alleging that Amy McCain is a member of a qualifying class. Nor has a claim under section 1986, which requires the esistence of a valid claim under section 198t. See Brandt, id. at 801-02. Tnd the attorney's fee provision of section 1988 is not applicable, as the McCains are not prevailing parties.

The district court also correctly concluded that, even based upon a liberal interpretation of the McCains' pro se complaint they have failed to assert facts supportive of a violation of the right to petition, the right to be free from illegal search and siezure, the right of equal protection or the right to privacy. Their conclusionary statements are entirely insufficient. See Brinkmann v. Johnston, 663 F. 2d 111, 112-13 (5th Cir. 1986); Briscoe v. LaHue, 663 F. 2d 713, 723 (7th Cir. 1981), aff'd, 460 U.S. 325 (1983).

The McCains also contend that they were not given adequate time to respond to the defendants' motions, but the record does not support that assertion. The defendants filed their motion to dismiss on June 9, 1988. After the defendants filed a supplemental motion with an affidavit on July 1, the McCains on July 21 requested a three-week extension of time to answer. Eighteen days later, the plaintiffs responded with their own affidavit and with what they contended was the entire relevant factual record.

The McCains knew that their section 1983 claim was being challenged on the basis of Goss, and they responded by coming forward with all of their evidence. See Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 326 (1986). The McCains do not assert any additional facts which they wanted to present to the district court. Thus, the district court did not err in finding that they treated the motion to dismiss as one for summary judgment. Moreover, even if only the facts of the case and inferences therefrom are taken from the plaintiffs' complaint and viewed in the light most favorable to plaintiffs, and the additional materials from either party are not considered, the district court could have granted the motion to dismiss according to the standards of Fed. R. P. 12(b)(6) and Conley v. Gibson, 355 U.S. 41, 45-46 (1957).

In reviewing the district court's grand of summary judgment, we apply the same standard of review as the district court. Ayo v. Johns-Manville Sales Corp., 771 F. 2d 902 F- 2d 902, 194 (5th Cir. (1985). Summary judgment was properly granted as a matter of law based upon the facts as alleged in the complaint and the materials which the plaintiffs submitted, which demonstrated no genuine issue as to any material fact in the section 1983 claim. See Celotex, 477 U.S. at 322-24.

The McCains also complain of the closed-session deliberations of the administrative proceedings conducted to review the suspension, and they argue that they were denied the opportunity (to) cross-examine witnesses. However, they had the opportunity to present their side of the case at various times, Under the circumstances of the instant case, closed-session deliberations were not improper. See, e.g., Lamb v. Panhandle Community Unit School Dist., 826 F. 2d 526, 529 (7th Cir. 1987). For this short-term suspension, based upon the various hearings conducted, due process did not include an opportunity to cross-examine witnesses. See Goss, 419 U. S. at 583

In their brief the McCains vociferously assert that Amy McCain was not drinking beer and that she was, therefor, unjustly punished by the two-day suspension, which has resulted in further personal problems for her. But whether she was holding a cup of beer is not a question of material fact concerning the issue of procedural due process or concerning any other potential basis for relief. In Wood v. Strickland. 420 U.S. 308, 326 (1975), the Court addresses the role of the federal courts when asked to review decisions of school administrators and stated,

> It is not the role of the federal courts to set aside decisions of school administrators which the court may view as lacking a basis in wisdom or compassion. Public high school > students do not have substantive and procedural rights while at school. (Citations omitted.) But Sec. 1983 does not extend the right to relitigate in federal court evidentiary questions arising in school disciplinary proceedings or the proper construction of school regulations. The system of public education that has evolved in this Nation relies necessarily upon the discretion and judgment of school administrators and school board members, and Sec. 1983 was not intended to be a vehicle for federal court corrections of errors in the exercise of that discretion which do not rise to the level of violations of specific constitutional guarantees. (Citations omitted.)

The McCains' arguments and conclusions asserted on appeal are without merit, and relitigation of the merits of the suspension is not appropriate here. The judgment is AFFIRMED.

ORDER

Defendants have filed a motion to dismiss supported by the affidavit of Ray Reiner. Plaintiff, pro se, has filed a response and summary judgment evidence in an effort to controvert Defendants' motion to dismiss as a motion for summary judgment, the Court will also treat the motion as one for summary judgment. The motion is GRANTED and this case is DISMISSED.

The facts are not in dispute. Amy McCain, a student at Lamar High School, was suspended for two days after being allegedly found in possession of alcohol on school property. After Miss McCain was accused of possessing alcohol she was called to the Vice-Principal Bert Busker's office. She was informed of the charges and was given an opportunity to respond. Complaint Paragraph 18. She was informed of Mr. Busker's discussions with Coach Muskett and Mr. Lang who both saw the alleged offense. After this hearing she was suspended for two days. Reiner Affidavit.

That same day Miss McCain had a second hearing before Mr. Busker. At the second hearing she was accompanied by her father. Complaint Paragraph 24. She subsequently had hearings before Mr. Reiner, principal of Lamar, District Superintendent Kay Stripling, and the H.I.S.D. school board. Complaint paragraphs 25, 28, and 29. In each case she was given an opportunity to be heard and present her side of the incident.

Plaintiff brought suit pursuant to 42 U.S.C. * 1983 alleging civil rights violations. The * 1983 claims must be dismissed since Plaintiff was given more than the minimum due process guaranteed by the Constitution for a suspension of less than ten days. Goss v. Lopez, 419 U.S. 565 (1975). Plaintiff has also alleged violations of 42 U.S.C.  1985 (2) (3) and 1986. These claims must be dismissed since a racial or class-based invidiously discriminatory animus has not been plead or demonstrated. Brandt v. Smith, 634 F.2d 796, 800-802 (5th Cir. 1981); cert. denied, 454 U.S. 830.

Plaintiff, in her reponse, asserts violations of her right to petition, illegal search and seizure, equal protection violations, and violations of her right to privacy. Plaintiff has made no factual allegations that would support any of these causes of action.

For these reasons the motion to dismiss, treated as a motion for summary judgment, is GRANTED and this case is DISMISSED with prejudice. Defendants have made a motion for assessment of attorney's fees against Plaintiff but have provided no support. The request for attorney's fees is DENIED.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

SUPPLEMENTAL
STATEMENT OF FACTS

The digest of facts presented to the appellate panel have been compressed to the maximum degree possible and still remain intelligible, we are, therefore quoting, in toto, the facts as presented to that panel.

> "The facts in this case are a peculiar mixture of fact and law. On May 26, 1987 the Houston Independent School District (hereinafter called HISD) had in place an "official" written set of Policies and Procedures, regarding disciplinary matters. At the same time they had in place parallel disciplinary policies and procedures, partially written and partially unwritten, which they actually used to discipline students. The purpose of said underground policies and procedures was to circumvent the legally established rules, regulations, Policies and Procedures, case law, statutory law, and the state and federal constitutional protections afforded students and their parents and representatives. 'R 154; Complaint--none of which has every been denied by defendants)
> At the same time, Amy McCain was enrolled in Lamar High School's advanced academic program, had no record of disciplinary problems and was dependent on her academic and disciplinary record for the opportunity to attend college. (R 149, Par. 20)

Day 1:

'Sometime prior to May (2)6, 1987, a Lamar High School teacher assigned a science project to a student, Brandon _____. On May 26, 1987, the teacher gave Brandon _____ a pass in order to get the science project and bring it to school. Brandon borrowed Tim _____'s car, Tim being another student, to ob(t)ain said project. Brandon _____ brought a beer keg, with some beer in it, onto the Lamar High School campus in Tim _____'s car.' (R 149, Par. 20)

'(The) beer tapper...was part of a science project assigned to him by a teacher.' (34 (R 26))

The borrowed car was Amy McCain's ride home. (R 34) Final examinations were to begin the next day. (R 148)

On May 26, 1987, a Lamar High School coach ordered Amy to pickup an empty cup which had been left in her area. (R 148)

Later that same day Amy was wrongfully and publicly accused by the vice-principals of (a) illegal consumption and (b) illegal possession of an alcoholic beverage (c) on Lamar High School campus, crimes under the laws of the State of Texas. (R 148, Par. 17)

The "R" in the above quote refers to the transcript record and "Par." to the complaint which is quoted in the fact portion of our Petition Supra.

The Court should note that none of the above grounds are grounds for either suspension or expulsion, which grounds are listed on the next page under "Official" Houston Independent School Board Policies and Procedures.

The Statement of Facts presented to the panel states:

> "With the door to the vice-principal's office left wide open and in the presence of students and other people, neither essential nor party to said proceedings, Amy and other students were threatened with:
> (1) Expulsion, for a non-expellable offense under Texas law.(21:3011, TEC Title 19, Part II--Expulsion for possession, or use on more than one occasion, 21:3011(b)(3)) (Emphasis added)

(2) Arrest;

(3) Suspension;

(4) Denial of their right, under Texas law, to makeup their final examinations. (Title 19, Part II Texas Ed Code 21:301 (a)(10))"

The following is the exclusive grounds for suspension or expulsion and was cited to the Appellate panel;

"On May 26, 1987 the "official" Houston Independent School District Policies and Procedures (R 150, Par. 22) provided:

'Suspension/Expulsion. Decisions to suspend or expel a student shall not be made until':

B. 'At the hearing, the principal must find that the student';

1. 'has assaulted a teacher or other persons on school property, or';

2. 'has been previously declared incorrigible and has continued to be guilty of incorri(g)ible conduct during or after disciplinary reassignment (long term) to the extent that keeping the student in the program would seriously impair the ability of the school to educate other children and';

3. 'that no further reasonable efforts to educate the child can be made...'

C. 'A copy of the written order suspending or expelling a student must be sent to the Chief Juvenile Probation Officer of Harris County.' (our emphasis) (R 150, Par. 22)

In addition to the mandatory hearing for Suspension and Expulsions described above, Sec. 752.000, HISD Policies and Procedures provided:

'The student's parent or representative is entitled to notice of and to participate in this disciplinary proceeding.' (R 32)

At no time have school officials complied with provisions 'A', 'B'.

In the original confrontation, during the investigatory state of the proceedings, the 'minimal due process' was not provided. Amy denied the charges saying, '...the cup was empty, except for the smell of beer, and she was not holding the cup.' (R 51, 148) Rather than explaining any evidence which Mr. Busker had, exculpating Amy, Mr. Busker

'...change(d) the story a few times.' (Affidavit R 51; R 148, Par. 18) and the vice-principals '...wouldn't even let them tell their story.' Affidavit R 51; R 148, Par. 18)

Day 2: May 27, 1987, in the morning, Amy was suspended without a hearing, without proper notice, and without first considering reasonable alternatives under TEC 21:301 (c). Later that same morning Mr. McCain went to vice-principal Busker's office where Mr. Busker told him that he suspended Amy, not because of misconduct but because:

> '...he needs more information and that a "hearing" would be set later when the student would be told what the investigation revealed, then he would decide on what (further) punishment he would give and whether Amy would be allowed to makeup her tests.' (R 149, Par. 21)

Although Mr. Busker had already talked to Coach Muskett and Mr. Lang, he admitted to Mr. McCain that:

> '"He knew that Amy did not have a cup of beer while on the Lamar campus, he would never-the-less allege that she had said cup of beer.' Mr. Busker became very antagonistic and threatened to retaliate against (Mr. McCain's) daughter if (he) complained about the suspension.' (R 34, R 44)" (see also R 149, Par. 21)"

THE UNREFUTED FACTS AND THEN:

1. THE SCHOOL BOARD NEVER EVEN CLAIMED

THAT AMY McCAIN'S CASE CAME WITHIN THE MANDATORY AND EXCLUSIVE GROUNDS FOR SUSPENSION OR EXPULSION LISTED ON THE PRECEDING.

2. AS A MATTER OF LAW AMY McCAIN STANDS INNOCENT OF THE CHARGES WHICH THE SCHOOL DID MAKE, BY REASON OF THE DEFENDANTS-APPELLANTS FAILING TO FILE AN ANSWER IN DENIAL, SO THAT THIS CASE IN NOT NOW AT ISSUE, AND EVERY SINGLE FACT ALLEGED IN AMY McCAIN'S COMPLAINT STANDS ADMITTED FOR PURPOSES OF THIS PROCEEDING.

The Statement of Facts before the Appellate panel continues:

"After threatening Amy he stated:

> '...it would not be in her best interests to remain at Lamar and he offered to prepare papers for her transfer right then and there.' (R)

In the evening of May 27, 1987 Mr. McCain was served with written notice of suspension in which Mr. Busker accused Amy of:

> "Possession of cup of beer-Lying to an administrator"

The exhibits at R 46, 47, and 48 were attached. A check mark was made beside the following, on R 48:

> "Formal discipline hearing as provided in Sec. 751.200 Board Policies (Mandator)." (sic.)

The word "(Mandatory)" was boxed in.

> "...the open ended suspension...said that Mr. McCain would need to call his office for an appointment for a 'conference' before May 29 and before Amy could be considered for readmission to school." (R 149, Par. 22)

Day 3: May 28, 1987

> 'In early morning on May 28th I found I could not get a meeting with Mr. Busker until May 29th, thus effectively causing a suspension of 3 days instead of 2, this was test week and tests start in the morning. Mr. Busker was unavailable when I learned of this extension of Amy's suspension without so much as a stroke of a pen, because of Mr. Busker's making good his threat to retaliate by effectively adding an additional suspension day, because of him making good his threat to allege charges which he knew were not true and because of the importance of final examinations I decided to allege an emergency and ask for immediate reinstatement...I filed 'Exhibit "A" (R 44) about 3 p.m.'"

(Part of page 9 and 10 were omitted here in the interest of brevity.)

> "Mr. McCain filed his motion for recusement on May 28, 1987:

(Please note that Mr. McCain's motion was under oath.)

> 'After repeated refusals of vice-principal Busker to answer phone calls inquiring as to the nature of the "formal hearing" set for May 29, 1987, the plaintiffs filed a sworn motion under HISD Policies and Procedures Sec. 756.000 for a (a) Recusement, (b) Recorded hearing, (c) Sworn testimony, and (d) Immediate reinstatement and expungment of the record. The motion was filed before defendants, principal Ray Reiner, vice-principal Bart Busker, and assistant superintendent (cluster manager) Kaye Stripling.' (R 150, Par. 23, R 44, 45)

Day 4: May 29, 1987:

'Although the plaintiffs' motion alleged facts showing bias and prejudice of Bart Busker, the motion was ignored. Mr. Busker, acting as prosecutor and judge, held a hearing on May 29, 1987 in which he affirmed the suspension of May 27, without the school submitting any evidence and without allowing the student to submit evidence or make argument. Amy was placed on probation but not notified of that fact.' (R 150, 151, Par. 27; Affidavit R. 50)

'Mr. Busker only waived two papers in the air without allowing examination so that cross-examination was not possible.' (R 38)

'At the above "hearing" Mr. Busker gave (Mr. McCain) "Exhibit C" which he said justified what he had done." (R 36) '(but)...had in fact been superceded in February 26 of 1987 by a letter signed by W. N. Kirby,

Commissioner of Education for the State of Texas.' (R 36)

The letter had authorized hearing officers to base suspension on 'feelings' rather than a preponderance of the evidence. (R 62) On May 29, 1987 the plaintiffs appealed the decision of vice-principal Busker to the 'next superior officer' principal Reiner.

Day 7 and 9: June 1 and 4, 1987 respectively:

"...a hearing was held on June 1, 1987 and continued to June 4, thereupon defendant Reiner conducted a secret investigation in concert with the "Vice-principals", and in concert with the "vice-principals" they did conspire to find Amy McCain guilty of the accusations based on evidence accumulated ex parte and in secret, in violation of HISD Board Policy and Procedure Sec. 756.000";

'In order to justify the suspension of May 27, one or more of the defendants manufactured a case against Amy McCain by engaging in an inquisition type, ex parte hearing where:

(a) Evidence was accumulated and decisions made in secret;

(b) Identities of witnesses were secret;

(c) Their testimony was kept secret;

(d) Accusations, arguments and decisions were made in secret, by a tribunal that was partially identified and partially unidentified; and, under an evidentiary test based on the "feelings" of said tribunal, Amy McCain was told on June 4, 1987 that she had been foun(d) guilty of being "...involved ("and(") to what degree...is totally inconsequential.';'

"The burden of proof was shifted to the student requiring her to:

(a) Take a lie detector test to prove her innocence;

(b) Present evidence under HISD Procedures Sec. 756.000, '...upon which the hearing officer can establish that the student did not do the alleged act" (our emphasis);

(c) Anticipate and meet evidence and legal issues presented in an inquisitional hearing before the vice-principals and Mr. Reiner, which she or her representatives were not allowed to attend and in which hearing the vice-principals and Mr. Reiner acted as the police, the prosecutor and judge;

(d) Require Amy McCain to prove her innocence without a prima facie case having been made against her'. (R 151)

Plaintiffs filed their Petition for Grievance with Principal Reiner, pursuant to a 'Grievance' procedure under HISD Policies and Procedures, Sec. 740.100, Mr. Reiner refused to consider this Grievance or set it for hearing saying,

'You do not have a standing to file a grievance against the principal.' (R 58)

Day 30: June 24, 1987:

Plaintiffs filed, with the HISD Board, their appeal of the disciplinary decision of Ray Reiner, along with a certified record, Praecipe for Transcript and Legal Brief, which the HISD Board refused to set for hearing or consider. The brief contained the following citations of Board Policies and Procedures and analysis:

> 'Article 4, HISD Board Policy at Sec. 752 provides, "The Board or its designate may not suspend or expel a student except as provided in Policy Section...756.000" '

Page 37 of the Transcript contains part of the 54 pages of the true record of the proceedings, none of which the Board considered.

"ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURE SEC. 756.000

Sec. (a)
'The evidence offered at the hearing should be directed toward finding the truth...The key to conducting a successful hearing is to search for the truth through reasonableness and fairness.'

Sec. (b)
'The student is entitled to an impartial hearer of the facts...If in doubt about whether the administration acts, judgments or decisions are at issue or if the administration cannot conduct a fair and impartial hearing, the administrator should not conduct the hearing. The entire thrust of having a hearing is to have someone conduct it who is impartial and can render a fair decision.'

WHAT LAMAR HIGH SCHOO(L) DID

The only evidence of record was a verified 'Motion For Change of Venue From the Hearing Officer' stating:

> 1. Bart Busker was biased and prejudiced; 2. Mr. Busker asserted that...'even though he knew Amy Elizabeth McCain did not have a cup of beer on the Lamar High School campus 'he would never-the-less allege that she had said cup of beer'; 3. Mr. Busker was a potential witness in these proceedings; (Student's Verified Exhib A) Mr. Busker refused to disqualify himself in this case.

Sec. (d)
'A record of the hearing should be made to substantiate that the required elements of procedural due process are afforded the student.'

> Mr. Busker failed to record said proceedings although 'Exhib. A' asked for recorded statements.

Sec. (e)
This section provides for hearings that '...will be closed to the public.'

> Mr. Busker in the presence of other students, not privy or necessary to the proceedings, held a 'hearing' on 5-24-87 in which he accused Amy McCain of 'drinking beer and possession of an alcoholic beverage.' (Exhib. F and A)

Sec. (g)
'The hearing officer should permit cross-examination if any circumstances indicate it necessary in order to reach the truth or to otherwise conduct a hearing that is fundamentally fair. If even in doubt as to whether cross-examination is necessary, permit it; to do otherwise is to invite litigation.'

Sec. (h)
'Witnesses should be sworn before offering testimony.'

Both Mr. Busker and Mr. Reiner violated the request of Amy McCain in Exhibit 'A'.

Sec. (i)(2)
This section anticipated that '...the record will adequately reflect the reasons for the proposed action, to substantiate that all parties had notice of the proposed reasons and possible punishment...'

We had no idea as to the nature of the action of 5-29-87. Exhib. 'B-1(') said we were to have a conference and The Student Code (Exhib. B-4) showed 'formal discipline hearing.(') We had no idea as to whether this was merely a formal conference to get Amy back in school or whether she risked additional suspension or expulsion since the sections referred to provided for them. To add to the problem, Mr. Busker would not answer phone calls made to him. With no guidance from Mr. Busker we checked the papers served and found that Exhib. 'B-3) provided on page 13, 'Decisions to suspend or expel a student shall not be made until there has been a hearing...'

Sec. (i)(3)
'The witnesses for the administration then present their evidence which support the reasons given for the proposed reassignment or expulsion...The names of the administration witnesses together with a general description of their testimony must be given to the student in advance of the hearing so he or she can prepare for an adequate defense.'

I could go into a tirade here, but what is the point---The fact is that this section was not followed nor were any of the other Board policies or procedures.

Sec. (j)
This section provides that the '...action must be supported by substantial evidence.' It further says that the '...hearing officer may take into consideration only that evidence presented at the hearing. The Hearing Officer should not consider rumor or other suggestion heard outside of the room prior to or after the hearing...evidence which would be hearsay or irrelevant in the courtroom should not be used to establish a fundamental fact upon which the decision is based. Hearsay evidence and affidavits may be used only to support a fact which is otherwise independently established through direct testimony or documentary evidence.'

> Let's face it. Mr. Busker submitted absolutely NO evidence to support the charges levied against Amy Elizabeth McCain. No attempt was made to present evidence until the appeal state before Mr. Reiner, when he submitted two unverified, conflicting statements, one signed and one initialed(.)
> These were not competent evidence because they were not sworn affidavits and even if they had been affidavits they could not be used because of the provision ...(above)...which is underlined.
> On the other hand the case of the school was denied at the Busker hearing and is supported by affidavits supported by the testimony of Amy McCain, constituting 'direct' evidence." (R 37, 38 and 39)

Finally the Statement of Facts before the Appellate panel said:

"Instead of the Board hearing the appeal it set up a fake, unauthorized hearing before District Superintendent Kay Stripling(;) a false record was substituted for the actual record.

(A)n appeal of Ms. Stripling's adverse ruling was made again to the School Board and the false record was substituted to the Board. (R 152, 153, Par. 31, 31, 33)

The Board in a hearing continued from Nov. 6, 1987 to Feb. 19, 1988 refused to take judicial notice of the record filed before it and before Kaye Stripling or to consider any of the evidence or briefs filed by the student prior to the hearing."

In addition to the disciplinary appeal we filed a Petition for Grievance before Principal Reiner, Asst. Supt. Stripling General Supt. Raymond and before the School Board, no one, including the Federal Judiciary has addressed our equitable prayer for expungment of the Schools records.

> "Your grievance procedures provide a 5 day per(iod) to set a hearing and another 5 days to make a decision. If no decision is rendered the grievant may automatically appeal to the next level. Sec. 740.100 HISD Policy says, 'The number of days indicated at each level shall be considered a maximum.'
> This case has been (be)fore the General Superintendent since July 7, well over the 10 days set as maximums by your own rules....
>
> The grievance was filed June 10 and we have yet to find one school administrator making a decision on the merits.
> The Board already has a copy of the grievance in its possession and we are incorporating this copy by reference in our appeal to you and request that you meet with us." (Transcript Record p. 72) (See page of this Statement of Facts, next to the last paragraph)

Amy McCain and her father, 2 1/2 years later stand at the door of this Court waiting for our "Petition For Redress of Grievance" to be heard or even acknowledged.

7. One or more of the defendants herein, under color of the statutes, ordinances, regulations, custom or usage of the State of Texas and the HISD, has subjected and caused to be subjected one or more of the plaintiffs, citizens of the United States and the State of Texas, to the deprivation of rights, privileges or immunities secured by the Constitution and the laws, in a manner hereinafter set out;(42 U.S.C. 1985)

8. Two or more of the defendants conspired with one or more of the other defendants or other unnamed persons for the purpose of impeding, hindering, obstructing or defeating the due course of justice, within the State of Texas, with the intent to deny Amy McCain, her father or other representatives, and others similarly situated, to the equal protection of the laws by one or more of the acts hereinafter listed; (42 U.S.C. 1985(2)

9. Two or more of the defendants conspired to, for the purpose of depriving, either directly or indirectly Amy McCain or William R. McCain, and others similarly situated, the equal protection of the laws or equal privileges and immunities under the laws or for the purpose of hindering the constituted authorities of the State of Texas from giving or securing the plaintiffs' right to equal protection of the laws, whereby said defendants acted to the injury of said plaintiffs in their person or property or deprived plaintiffs of having and exercising their rights and privileges, all as hereinafter set out; (42 U.S.C. 1985(3)

10 One or more of the defendants, having knowledge of the wrongs conspired to be done in paragraphs 8 and 9, were about to be committed, and having power to prevent or aid in the preventing the commission of same, neglected or refused so to do. Said defendants, by reasonable diligence could have prevented said wrongful acts from being committed so that the Plaintiffs, Amy McCain or her father William R. McCain were damaged as a result, all as hereinafter set out: (42 U.S.C. 1999)

11. The defendants conspired to and did, under color of law, willfully and wantonly engage in invidiously discriminatory acts which were intended to and did, in fact, deprive students, their parents or representatives, or others similarly situated of their constitutional rights of privacy, due process, illegal search and siezure, equal protection and right to petition for grievances. The defendants willfully and wantonly deprived the plaintiffs of their liberty and property rights under the law. Pursuant thereto, said defendants deprived plaintiffs of adequate notice, their right to a fair and impartial hearing before a fair and impartial hearing before a fair and impartial tribunal. They engaged in the manufacture and suppression of evidence, extortion, intimidation and threats against witnesses and parties; they held secret meetings, hearings, and investigations in which they made secret decisions and conclusion of law and fact, prior to or during hearings, which were based on their feelings and without any competent evidence, thereby denying Amy McCain and others the right to confrontation, cross-examination and other procedural rights;

12. On or about May 26, 1987 the Houston Independent School District has in effect a wholly illegal policy with was intended to and did, in fact, isolate students in the school environment from the protection of their parents and natural guardians, and from the protection provided by the laws of the State of Texas and from the state and United States Constitutions;

13. In order to hide their malicious and despicable actions they failed to keep records of filings, hearings and other proceedings and they substituted a false record for appellate or judicial revue. On May 26, (1987) and for a long time prior thereto, the Houston Independent School District, their Board of Directors, officers, agents, designees, employees and representatives engaged in a policy which placed exclusive control of disciplinary policies or procedures in the hands of local school authorities, including Lamar High School. The purpose of said policy was to circumvent the law and to deny students, their parents and representatives access to and the benefit of Federal and State Constitutional protections as well as State law and Texas Education Agency and HISD regulations, policies and procedures;

14. One or more of the defendants at the Board level, as well as Administration authorities and the school attorneys, engaged in activities which they knew or reasonably should have known that the action that they took, or intentionally refused to take, within their respective spheres of official responsibility would violate the constitutional rights of the said Amy McCain, her representatives, and others similarly situated;

15. Said defendants at the Board level agreed to accept, and the defendants agreed to submit a record of the procedings below which all conspirators knew was a false and manufactured record. The practice of submitting false, inaccurate and incomplete transcripts of the record was so well known that when, then Board resident, Cathy Mineburg described the achools transcript as ". .cards, memos, physical evidence. .and other evidence", the school Board broke into laughter;

16. On or about May 26, 1987, the day before final examinations were to begin, a student brought onto Lamar High School campus a beer keg, which was to be used to demonstrate a beer keg tapper which he had been asked to design as part of a class project;

17. At said time and place Amy McCain was wrongfully accused of:

> Illegal consumption and possession of an alcoholic beverage on the Lamar High School campus crimes under the laws of the State of Texas;

18. Said accusations along with threats of arrest, suspension or expulsion were made in the presence and hearing of students and other people who were neither party to nor essential to the proceedings. With the door to the vice-principal's office left wide open Mr. Brew and Mr. Busker accused Amy McCain and other students ". .of drinking beer. They never asked if they were; they wouldn't even let the(m) tell their story. .Mr. Busker change(d) the story a few times. .With out having talked to Coach Muskett and Mr. Lang, except (sic) over the walkie talkie Mr. Busker had already accused Amy McCain of possession of aschol. (sic) Amy told him the cup was empty, except for the smell of beer, and she was not holding the cup.";

19. On May, (27) 1987 Amy McCain was suspended without a hearing and without proper notice and she was threatened with denial of her right to make-up her examinations in violation of the Texas Education Code, Sec. 21.301:

20. At said time Amy was enrolled in Lamar's advanced academic program, has no record of disciplinary problems and was dependent on her academic and disciplinary record for the opportunity to attend college;

21. At a meeting later that morning with Amy's father, William R. McCain, vice-principal Bart Busker said he was going to accuse Amy of possession of a cup of beer, although he admitted he knew the cup was empty and picked up at the direction of the Lamar High School coach. He threatened to retaliate against Amy if the plaintiffs did not drop their objections to the suspension. Mr. Busker said he suspended Amy because he needed some more information and that a "hearing" would be set later, when the student would be told what the investigation revealed, then he would decide on what punishment he would give and whether Amy would be allowed to make-up her tests. Mr. Busker then engaged in an investigation, the purpose of which was to justify his wholly illegal actions;

22. In the evening of May 27, 1987, Amy's father was served with written notice of the open ended suspension which said that Mr. McCain would need to call his office for an appointment for a "conference" before Amy could be considered for readmission to school. Amy was accused of:

> "Possession of cup of beer-Lying to an administrator"

Said notice included pages 10 through 15 which provided the possibility of expulsion and stated on page 13:

> "Suspension/Suspension. Decisions to suspend or expel a student will not be made until there has been a hearing as provided by Section 751.200, Board Policies, involving the principal, the teacher, the student, and his or her parent, guardian or representative. At the hearing, the principal must find that the student has assaulted a teacher or other persons on school property; or has been previously declared incorrigible and has continued to be guilty of incorrigible conduct during or after disciplinary reassignment (long term) to the extent that keeping the student in the program would seriously impair the ability of the school to educate other children and that no further reasonable efforts to educate the child can be made. .The hearing officer should inform all parties of their right to appeal the decision to the next higher administrative level and how to do so. .A copy of the written order suspending or expelling a student must be sent to the Chief Juvenile Probation Officer of Harris County."

Page 13 also provided:

"Declaration of incorribibility. To find a student guilty of incorrigible conduct and subject to long term disciplinary reassignment or suspension, the principal must hold a hearing. . and find that either (1) the student's continued presence presents a clear, present, and continuing danger of physical harm to the student or others, or (2) the student has engaged in serious or persistent misbehavior that threatens to impair the educational efficiency of the school, the misbehavior violates specific, published standards of student conduct for the District, and all reasonable alternatives to the student's regular classroom program, including a variety of disciplinary actions have been exhausted."

23. After repeated refusals of vice-principal Busker to answer phone calls inquiring as to the nature of the "formal hearing"set for May 29, 1987, the plaintiffs filed a sworn motion under HISD Policies and Procedures Sec. 756.000 for a (a) Recusement, (b) Arecorded hearing, (c) Sworn testimony, and (d) Immediate reinstatement and expungment of the record. The motion was filed before defendants, principal Ray Reiner, vice-principal Bart Busker, and assistant superintendent (cluster Manager Kaye Stripling;

24. Although the plaintiffs' motion alleged facts showing bias and prejudice of Bart Busker, the motion was ignored. Mr. Busker, acting as prosecutor and judge, held a hearing on May 29, 1987 in which he affirmed the suspension of May 25, without the school submitting any evidence and without allowing the student to submit evidence or make argument. Amy was placed on probation but not notified of that fact;

25. The plaintiffs appealed the decision to defendant principal Ray Reiner and a hearing was held on June. ,1987 and continued to June 4, whereupon defendant Reiner conducted a secret investigation in concert with the "vice-principals" they did conspire to find Amy McCain guilty of the accusation based on evidence accumulated ex parte and in secret, in violation of HISD Board Policy and Procedure Sec. 756.000;

26 In order to justify the suspension of May 27, one or more of the defendants manufactured a case against Amy McCain by engaging in an inquisition type, ex parte hearing where:

(a) Evidence was accumulated and deliberations made in secret;

(b) Identities of witnesses were secret.

(c) Their testimony was kept secret;

(d) Accusations, arguments and decisions were made in secret, by a tribunal that was partially identified and partially unidentified; and, under an evidentiary test based on the "feelings: of said tribunal, Amy McCain was told on June 4, 1987 that she had been found guilty of being". .involved. .and. .to what degree. .is totally inconsequential."

27. The burden of proof was shifted to the student requiring her to:

(a) Take a lie detector test to prove her innocence;

(b) Present evidence under HISD Procedures Sec. 756.000, "..upon which the hearing officer can establish that the student did not do the alleged act."

(c) Anticipate and meet evidence and legal issues presented in an inquisitional hearing before the vice-principals and Mr. Reiner, which she or her representatives were not allowed to attend, and in which hearing the vice-principals and Mr. Reiner acted as the police, the prosecutor and the judge:

(d) Requiring Amy McCain to prove her innocense without a prima facie case having been made against her;

28. Although HISDPolicies and Procedures provide only for an evidentiary hearing, a second hearing denovo, then an appeal on the record to the HISD Board, a fake or unauthorized appellate hearing was set up before district Superintendent Stripling. The purpose of the fake appellate hearing was the substitution of a false record for the actual record before vice-principal Busker and Principal Reiner. Neither the fake record nor the actual record, submitted in transcript form by the student, showed any competent evidencd submitted by the school. Never-/ the-less Ms. Stripling ruled against the plaintiffs and substituted the false record to the School Board;

29. On November 6, 1987 at the appeal hearing before theHISD Board, the defendents substituted a false, inaccurate, incomplete and uncertified record of the proceedings made before Mr. Reiner and Mr. Busker along with an inaccurate, garbles, incomplete and uncertified transcript of the arguments made in the fake hearing before District Superintendent Stripling. Not only did the school substitute a false record for the actual record, they failed to present the record of the transcript of the recorded hearing sessions before principal Reiner. Mr. Reiner then in open hearing before the Board lied about the session bein recorded;

30. On February 19, 1988 an appeal hearing, continued from November 6, 1987, was held before the Board at which an uncertified, inaccurate rendering of the missing tape recordings was finally produced. The Administration refused to submit, and the HISDBoard refused to consider t he student's transcript of the actual record of the hearings held below. They further refused to consider any of the pleadings, briefs or affidavits, notices, official documents, or evidence submitted before Mr. Reiner, Mr. Busker, those filed with district superintendent Stripling on June 26, 1987, those filed with the Board on June 24, 1987 or those filed with the Board or general superintendent Joan Raymond after said date;

31. Without objection from any of the defendant Board members, the Board refused to take judicial notice of the actual record filed before the HISD Board, and before defendants: Bart Bunker, Ray Reiner, Kaye Stripling, Joan Raymond and Director of Board Services, Les Sumrall, or to otherwise aid the student in enforcing her Praecipe For Transcript;

32. In spite of plaintiff' motion for information on procedural rules and school policies, along with the praecipe for a transcript filed on June 24, 1987 before the Board and renewed on July 8 and August 28, the HISD Board and Administration, their agents, employees, designees or other representatives have failed and refused to furnish plaintiff said information, and they have failed and refused to furnish an accurate, complete or certified transcript of the record of the proceedings, in this case or to consider the actual record in their decision to deny Amy McCain's appeal to reverse the suspension and expunge the record;

33. The HISD has had in effect the following policies and procedures which were designed to and did virtually eliminate, or, in fact eliminate appeals before the School Board in student disciplinary cases, to wit:

(a) Students were suspended without meaninful hearings and without first considering reasonable alternatives, including appropriate discipline management techniques or removal to an alternative education program, in violation of the Texas Education Code Sec. 21.301, the Texas Education agency rules and the Texas Administrative Code;

(b) The defendants then relied on a system of policies and procedures which were complicated, arbitrary, confusing or contradictory so as to require prohibitive or extensive expenditure of funds for effective legal representation in order to protect the rights of Amy McCain or others

similarly situated;

(c) The defendants engaged in a practice of stalling or otherwise refusing to act on a manner prescribed by law, policies or procedures, or administrative regulations, so as to protract the due course of justice, thereby discouraging students or their parents and representatives; or requiring extensive or prohibitive expenditures of monies for legal expenses to enforce or attempt to enforce the rights of Amy McCain or others similarly situated;

(d) The defendants failed and refused to protect the record or otherwise failed to preserve or consider the actual evidence, or accurately document evidentiary submissions, transcripts, petitions, briefs or other parts of the record, by failing to keep a record of said events or to lie about the filing or existence thereof;

so that student disciplinary appeals have not been prosecuted to the HISD board for a number of years in a school system composing some 190,000 students;

34. On or about May 26, 1987 the Houston Independent School District had in place a written set of Policies and Procedures regarding disciplinary matters. At the same time they had in place parallel and underground policies and procedures, partially written and partially unwritten, which they actually used to discipline students. The purpose of said underground policies and procedures was to circumvent the legally established rules, regulations, Policies and Procedures, case law, statutory law and state and federal constitutional protections afforded students and their parents and representatives:

35. The kaystone of said underground policies was a contrived effort to hide the actual record in disciplinary proceedings in order to limit or obliterate appeliate review; and, in order to supply deniability and avoid responsibility for unlawful conduct of the defendants at both the trial and appellate stages;

36. This lawless and invidiously discriminatory policy was well understood by all of the defendants and was engaged in, under color of law, in order to deprive students and parerts of their constitutional protections, including;

(a) Right to petition, 1st Amendment,

(b) Right to Privacy,

(c) Right to be secure from illegal searches and seizures, 4th Amendment,

(d) Right to due process, 5th and 14th Amendments,

(e) Right to equal protection, 14th Amendment;

37. On or about May 26, 1987 t here was in force and effect a Code Of Ethics Provides as follows:

"(e) Ethical conduct toward students:

(2) The educator shall deal considerately and justly with each student and shall seek to resolve problems including discipline according to law and school board policy.

(3) The educator shall not intentionally expose the student to disparagement.

(4) The educator shall not reveal confidential information concerning a student unless disclosure served professional purposes or is required by law.

(6) The educator shall endeavor to present facts without distortion." TAC 19 Sec. 177.1;

38. One or more of the defendants engaged in the violation of the law as well as violation of the above ethical standards. One or more of the defendants then engaged in illegal and unethical acts in order to cover-up the illegal and unethical acts of others.

39. Pursuant to said coverup defendants at the administrative level agreed to fabricate and present to the School Board a manufactured and false record of the proceedings involving the discipline of Amy McCain. As part of the conspiracy t he defendants at the School Board level agreed to accept the administrations transcript of the record at face value and to ignore the actual record filed before it. The administration defendants and the Board level defendants agreet to accept legal opinions from the legal representatives of the Houston Independent School District and said legal representatives agreed to give opinions which both sides knew or had reason to believe were wrong, so that said defendants could rely on the legal opinions given. The attorneys expected to rely of the reluctance of follow attorneys to sue one another, and the reluctance of courts to hold attorneys accountable for bad advice under the doctring of qualified immunity, thus avoiding responsibility at each level;

40. The plaintiff alleges that the acts in the case of Amy McCain were an effort to circumvent the admonition of the Federal Court given 17 years ago to the Houston Independent School District with Kelly Frels as the attorney of record in that case:

> ", ,The tendency of virtually every administrative appellate body to affirm the decisions rendered at a lower level means that it is particularly vital that the initial hearing offered a suspended student be a meaningful one, The court is persuaded that it is unrealistic to expect that such a hearing can be meaninful when prosecutor and judge are united in the same individual.
> The Court. .recently held that a meeting between a principal, and a suspended student, and the student's parents, in which the principal merely explained to the parents the decision he had already reached did not qualify as a 'hearing', even though denominated as such by the principal. The Court did not deal with the question of whether the principal should be permitted to conduct a hearing for the student whom the principal has himself decided to suspend. This Court believes, however, that it is practically inevitable that a principal who as prosecutor has adjudged a student in need of suspension, will, as judge affirm his own prior ruling." Sullivan v. HISD, TX

(1971) 333 F. Supp. 1149, 1174

41. Defendants' conduct as hereinbefore set forth was intentional or reckless and so extreme in degree as to go beyond all reasonable bounds of decency and caused the plaintffs severe emotional distress by reason of the acto of intimidation, humiliation and public scorn and redicule before fellow students, teachers and other persons. The defendants have violated their public trust and have committed an outrage against Amy McCain and other students of the Houston Independent School District by creating a system of lies, deceit, slander, coverup, threats, intimidation and extortion against Amy McCain and other students and their parents and representatives. The defendants, and each of them, knew that they were engaging in destructive acts which would cause and in fact did damage Amy McCain's opportunities and scholarship chances for higher educacation along with damage to her employability. The defendants have deprived her of parental association and guidance. She has been accused of immoral acts in the presence of her family and required to leave Houston so that the family santuary has been invaded and the familial fabric ruptured. Amy's father, William R. McCain has been assaulted, glared at and threatened and required to miss work and spend many hours to protect her rights causing him loss of income past and future and he has and will be required to spend excessive monies for her college. He has spent and will be obligated to expend monies in her legal defense and in pursuing her legal rights. Both plaintiffs have suffered past and future emotional pain and suffering. As a result of the public accusations some now believe that Amy McCain was arrested and thrown in jail for dope related offenses."
